Project idea

- Project Title
Electric Vehicle (EV): Reliable Battery for Aging Population

- Project Duration
12-18 months

- Project outline (max. 1 paragraph)
Based on the findings from various researches, there is a specific preference among the elderly for electric mobility. And the older generations expect more reliability and stability from their vehicles.

The purpose of the project is to scope and define the solution of increasing reliability of EV in connection to intelligent energy supply and battery optimization with recycling design thinking, then to prototype based and test for a use case

It is planned for 2 phases:

Phase 1 (6-8 months) – Solution white paper

Phase 2 (6-10 months) – Prototyping and testing of the solution with a use case, i.e. nursing home etc.

- Expected economic impact
Upon the use case to be selected. However, Considering the expanding aging population globally today with a low EV ownership rate, the increased reliability of EV batteries may bring significant economic impact by better assisting the elderly mobility.

Looking for

- Type of partner sought
Investor, Business, Non-Profit Organizations, End-users
- Tasks & partner specific goals
While we can handle the technological development side, the use case scenario and detailing the business requirements to be handled by the partner
- Required experience/competences
Insight to EV market and interest in growing the market, or experience with elderly needs and care
- Resources
Depends on collaboration model to be agreed

Thank you!
